

The 15 Greatest Laws of Writing

---

By Daniel Ally

1. JUST WRITE. YOU CAN'T WRITE WELL UNTIL YOU ACTUALLY START THE PROCESS
  2. DON'T WORRY ABOUT THE INNER CRITIC. SELF-JUDGMENT LEADS TO FAILURE
  3. NEVER FOCUS ON IF THEY'LL UNDERSTAND. IF YOU WRITE WELL, THEY WILL
  4. IF YOU'RE WRITING TO MAKE MONEY, THEN YOU HAVE THE WRONG INTENTION
  5. IT'S FAR BETTER TO JOURNAL PERSONALLY BEFORE WRITING PROFESSIONALLY
  6. SORTING OUT YOUR CONFLICTS IN LIFE GIVES MUCH CLARITY BEFORE WRITING
  7. YOU WILL NEVER BE A GOOD WRITER IF YOU'RE ALWAYS FRUSTRATED IN LIFE
  8. ALWAYS THINK OF SOMEONE OR SOMETHING TO GET INSPIRED FASTER
  9. CLEAR OFF YOUR DESK. IT'S HARD TO WRITE IN A HIGHLY CLUTTERED SPACE
  10. GIVE YOURSELF PLENTY OF TIME TO WRITE. IT TAKES HOURS TO BE CREATIVE
  11. YOU EITHER HAVE THE GIFT OF WRITING OR YOU DON'T. NEVER FIGHT THIS FACT
  12. YOU CAN'T BE A GOOD WRITER IF YOU HAVEN'T STUDIED ANYTHING IMPORTANT
  13. SET YOUR WRITING SPACE UP PERFECTLY: GET WATER, NAIL CLIPPERS, FOOD, ETC.
  14. CUT OUT DISTRACTIONS. YOU CAN'T WRITE IF YOU'RE CONSUMED BY NONSENSE
  15. TO ENHANCE YOUR CREATIVITY, ASK GOD FOR MORE IDEAS THROUGH PRAYER
- BONUS: IMAGINATION IS EVERYTHING. JUST LET YOUR IDEAS FLOW MAGICALLY
